RISING TIDE: THE HUMAN CONSEQUENCES OF RISING SEA LEVELS

PHOTO EXHIBITION BY KADIR VAN LOHUIZEN

ERASMUS HUIS JAKARTA 22 MAY - 3 AUGUST 2024

The exhibition offers a multi-dimensional perspective on the impact of rising water levels. It is a testament to Kadir van Lohuizen's dedication and comprehensive investigation, inviting audiences to confront the stark reality of our collective future and urging society to collectively strive for sustainable solutions. Additionally, a mini-exhibition "Dari Utara Bercerita" by children from Kelas Jurnalis Cilik offers fresh insights into their environment in North Jakarta, which is also affected by the rising sea levels.

Keturunan is a multidisciplinary project that expresses the perspective of descendants of ancestors who have experienced an eventful journey regarding their relationship with the Netherlands. Ancestors are of great important for the Moluccans and Indonesian, highly influential in the development of their current identity, both in cultural and ethnical significance. In Keturunan, this history is acknowledged, taken along, and inspires the foundation of a bridge to the current, younger generations.
